

Liverpool vs fulham

Pre-Match Trading Analysis Report | Generated: 09/04/2026

Match Summary

Liverpool host Fulham at Anfield in a crucial 2025/2026 Premier League fixture. With Arne Slot's side facing significant defensive injuries and adjusting to a squad without Trent Alexander-Arnold, Fulham will look to capitalise using their pacey wide players.

Key Stats & Trends

- Liverpool are missing key defensive personnel including Alisson, Conor Bradley, and Giovanni Leoni.
- Florian Wirtz and Cody Gakpo have been instrumental in Liverpool's attack under Arne Slot.
- Fulham's squad features high-profile attacking threats like Oscar Bobb, Samuel Chukwueze, and Emile Smith Rowe.

Top Trading Insights

Both Teams to Score (BTTS) - Yes

High

Angle: Back BTTS - Yes

Reasoning: Liverpool's defensive injuries, particularly the absence of Alisson and Bradley, combined with an aggressive attacking setup, leave them vulnerable to counter-attacks from Fulham's pacey wingers.

Team Previews

Liverpool Analysis

Key Player: Florian Wirtz (Attacking Midfielder)

Primary playmaker, dictating tempo and providing key passes into the final third.

Strengths

fulham Analysis

Key Player: Emile Smith Rowe (Attacking Midfielder)

Crucial for transitioning from midfield to attack and exploiting spaces left by Liverpool's high line.

- ✓ Potent attack featuring Mohamed Salah, Cody Gakpo, and Florian Wirtz
- ✓ Anfield home advantage
- ✓ High xG creation

Weaknesses

- ✗ Depleted defense due to long-term injuries to Alisson and Conor Bradley
- ✗ Missing Trent Alexander-Arnold's creative output from the right flank since his transfer to Real Madrid

Strengths

- ✓ Strong counter-attacking wingers like Samuel Chukwueze and Oscar Bobb
- ✓ Solid midfield base with Sander Berge and Emile Smith Rowe

Weaknesses

- ✗ Inconsistent away form
- ✗ Vulnerable against high-pressing teams

Historical & Disciplinary Data
