

Sunderland vs Tottenham

Pre-Match Trading Analysis Report | Generated: 09/04/2026

Match Summary

Sunderland hosts Tottenham Hotspur at the Stadium of Light on Matchweek 32 of the 2025/2026 Premier League season. Sunderland, enjoying a solid campaign in 11th place with 43 points, look to capitalize on a severely depleted Tottenham side. Shockingly, Spurs find themselves in a relegation battle in 17th place with just 30 points, having recently appointed Roberto De Zerbi to salvage their season amidst a historic injury crisis.

Key Stats & Trends

- Sunderland are currently 11th in the Premier League with 43 points.
- Tottenham sit surprisingly in 17th place with 30 points, dangerously close to the relegation zone [1.14].
- The reverse fixture in January 2026 ended in a 1-1 draw, with Brian Brobbey canceling out an early Spurs lead.
- Tottenham are missing up to 8 first-team regulars, including James Maddison, Dejan Kulusevski, and Mohammed Kudus.

Top Trading Insights

Match Winner - Sunderland Draw
No Bet

High

Angle: Backing Sunderland on the Draw No Bet market provides safety. Tottenham's injury list and away form make them highly vulnerable [1.17].

Reasoning: Spurs are missing massive creative and midfield outlets. Sunderland have home advantage, a stable lineup featuring Enzo Le Fée and Granit Xhaka, and are relatively pressure-free.

Under/Over Goals - Under 2.5
Goals

Medium

Angle: Lay Over 2.5 Goals.

Reasoning: Tottenham lacks attacking bite without Maddison and Kulusevski, while Sunderland are solid but not overly prolific, relying on tight structures.

Team Previews

Sunderland Analysis

Key Player: Brian Brobbey (Striker)

The main attacking outlet for Sunderland, having already proven his threat by scoring against Spurs in the reverse fixture.

Strengths

- ✓ Midfield control with Granit Xhaka and Enzo Le Fée [1.3].
- ✓ Physicality up front via Brian Brobbey.

Weaknesses

- ✗ Inconsistent home form in recent weeks [1.17].
- ✗ Occasional lapses against counter-attacks.

Tottenham Analysis

Key Player: Cristian Romero (Center Back)

Crucial for stabilizing a leaky defense and organizing the backline amidst constant tactical shifts and injuries.

Strengths

- ✓ Individual defensive quality in Cristian Romero and Micky van de Ven [1.10].
- ✓ New manager bounce potential under Roberto De Zerbi.

Weaknesses

- ✗ Extensive injury crisis wiping out the primary attack and midfield [1.7].
- ✗ Poor away form, losing 3 of their last 6 road matches.
- ✗ Low team morale due to relegation pressure.

Historical & Disciplinary Data

Data Sources

References

theboyhotspur.com
football.london
chosun.com besoccer.com
forebet.com
sportsmole.co.uk
goal.com